CO-OPERATION
For the B. C. Farmer

In an address on "Co-operation," recently given by Mr. Hayward, M.L.A. for Duncan, B.C., were some pertinent remarks as to the loss to farmers caused by their attitude of isolation. "If farmers joined together, they could rule the world," he said.

"I would not like to suggest that agriculture is flourishing any too well in the province of British Columbia. My honest belief is that agriculture is doing as well as might be expected under the circumstances; the circumstances are rather hard, I may say, and in that connection there are five or six matters over and above the question of co-operation that I would like, if permitted, to discuss with you. Co-operation is not the only thing that will make for success in farming, but at least it is one of the chief things that will bring agriculture into a better state in the province of British Columbia than it enjoys at the present time. I say better, because I believe that one of the greatest difficulties we have is that we are sending out of the province annually $14,000,000 to bring in that which might very well be produced within our own borders. You will understand, therefore, what a very serious work the agriculturist has before him. Speaking as a supporter of the government, I say that the government intends to do everything possible to assist you.

"In regard to co-operation, I would just call attention to the fact that so far as I have been able to see, it has operated very successfully in our and in many other districts. It has done much to put dollars and cents into the farmer's pocket; it has created a friendlier spirit among the farmers, due to the closer association which the effective operation of the idea entails. In the past it cannot be denied that the petty bickering and jealousies between the farmers, due largely to their isolated condition and individual effort, resulted in pecuniary loss, a loss that has since been transformed into a gain by the adoption of the co-operative idea. It is true, in my opinion, that if the farmers joined together, they would rule the world. It is absolutely true; but it is likewise true that it is a very hard thing indeed to get the farmers to join together.

"I regard that the breeding of a spirit of confidence among the farmers, as one of the chief works of co-operation. Wherever you have a co-operative creamery, or wherever you co-operate in any shape or form, you not only increase the quantity of the produce, but you also raise the standard of quality, both of which performances being coincident with an all-round reduction in the cost. There are hundreds and thousands of farmers who would make butter—and that would be a good thing for the butter and the consumer of butter—if it were produced on a co-operative principle. The fact that at the present time they have not only to make the butter, but find a market for it, is one of the reasons why so little of that commodity is made. If butter was made on the co-operative principle—that is, if all the farmers centralized the production of butter or the elements of butter, it could be done at a greatly reduced cost to that which at present prohibits them from making that very necessary commodity.

"It is in the details of the work that the farmer loses, and it is in these same details that the co-operative creamery would make those losses gains. If you increase the quantity and raise the quality of dairy produce, you at the same time increase their monetary value. The monetary value of butter and eggs have altered wherever you have a co-operative society controlling the industry. It is not very many years ago when I, who have been farming here for the last 17 years, used to paddle eggs and butter around this town, and be glad to take from the grocer just what ever he would give me—and I am sorry to say, take it out in trade. To-day, I send my products to the creamery and the grocer has to pay what we ask, and not what he chooses to give.

I am going to give you a few figures regarding our Cowichan Creamery. This creamery is purely co-operative. It started out to make better. As far as my connection with it went, I started in with the hope that the creamery would start an egg-station. We have now got beyond that into a poultry station. We have got a pig-fattening station; we buy our feed in car-load lots; we have a siding from the railway. Everything is mixed up by the association, and the farmer brings in his produce and takes out his feed. The one offsets the other, and at the end of the month he has paid for his feed and is due to receive the balance on his product. During the year the creamery produced 158,000 pounds of butter. It shipped $2,000 dozen eggs, and it placed on the market no less than 20,000 pounds of dressed poultry.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION
First Shoot of the Season

On Thursday, May 15, the first shoot of the season was held on the local rifle range. As very few members knew that a shoot was to be held, the attendance was limited to two members, Mr. T. Allan and Mr. F. L. Davis. With a stiff wind blowing, the following scores were made:

Scores
T. Allan	4-5 4 5 5 4 5 5-33
F. L. Davis	4-4 4 5 5 4 3 3-26
500
T. Allan	3-5 5 5 5 4 5 5-34
F. L. Davis	3-3 3 4 4 5 5 3-27

F. L. Davis	3-3 0 2 5 3 4 4-21
Aggregate
T. Allan 96, F. L. Davis 74.

In addition to the shoot, a considerable amount of work was done on the targets, and they are now in first-class shape for the next meet, when a good attendance is confidently expected.

CITY COUNCIL
Weekly Meeting

At the regular meeting of the City Council last Friday, Acting Mayor Sutherland and Aldermen Copeland, Taylor, Thompson, Cosens and Calder were present.

Mr. D. W. Chowley was present in the Council Chamber to petition the City Fathers for a few chairs and lights for the bandstand and the Council passed a motion authorizing the Park Committee to get the necessary supplies, as they were badly needed by the band and the expense would be very little.

Ald. Copeland reported that he had investigated the matter of street signs, and the number necessary would be 113. The cost of the sample sign board he had secured was 75 cents but he thought it would be advisable to call for tenders if the City decided to go ahead with the work. The signs could in many instances be placed on the electric light poles, so the cost of the work would be materially lessened. For some time past, merchants had been requesting that the streets be named, as it was very confusing for now delivery men to find out where to take their goods. It would also be very useful to the general public and to strangers, and with a small pocket map of the city a new arrival would have no trouble in finding his way to any part of the city.

Ald. Taylor objected to the placing of wooden signs on the streets on the ground that they would soon decay, and suggested that metal signs with enamel letters be used. Incidentally, he did not think there was sufficient funds on hand to touch the work at all.

Ald. Calder also endorsed the idea of metal signs, stating that they were used in many large cities and were not very expensive.

Acting Mayor Sutherland suggested that Ald. Copeland go further into the matter and secure estimates on both the board and metal signs, when the Council might be in a position to take action in the matter.

By-laws 132 and 133 were read the third time and a motion was passed to hold a poll on the same on June 6, with the City Clerk as returning officer.

Ald. Copeland brought to the attention of the Council another matter; the question of giving one name to the avenue now known as Harvey Ave. and Eli Ave. The street originally ran from Abbott St. to Ellis St. and was named Eli Ave., after a member of the pioneer Lequime family. Later, the street had been extended to the Government road and the extension called Harvey Ave. by the firm which subdivided the property in that section.

The Aldermen differed in their opinions on the matter, but all agreed on the necessity for a common name for the street.

Acting Mayor Sutherland suggested that an entirely new name be given to the whole street, as the most diplomatic way to settle the problem. Finally, the matter was postponed until a later meeting, as a by-law will have to be passed and the usual procedure gone through to make any such change in street nomenclature.

It was moved by Ald. Calder, seconded by Ald. Cosens, that the subdivision plan submitted by Mr. J. Harvey, Jr. of Lots 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, Block 54, and part of Lots 1 to 9 and 18 to 23, Block 54, Reg. Plan 262, be passed. Carried.

VICTORIA DAY SPORTS
List of Events

The following programme will be presented on Victoria Day at the Exhibition Grounds. It will be noted that a race is scheduled for every 10 minutes so it will be necessary for owners of horses to make an effort to get out on time, or some of the programme will inevitably have to be abandoned. The committee wish every individual horse owner to be as prompt as possible and thereby assist the management to carry out the programme in full. The same statement goes for the athletes who intend to enter in the track and field sports.

FARSIGHT IN CAR SELECTION

THE measure of your pleasure in motoring depends on the discrimination you use in purchasing your car.

Not alone should you investigate the worth of the car itself. You should be particular about the firm that makes the car. Look a little ahead—ask yourself whether the car you're about to purchase is likely to have a factory at all behind it six months hence.

There's sure satisfaction in the choice of a McLaughlin Car—not only are McLaughlin Cars trustworthy in themselves, but they come from a factory that has been producing high-grade cars for five years, and was making high-grade carriages nearly half a century before that—a factory that is the keystone of a big organization, with completely-equipped sales depots all over Canada.

BOOST FOR YOUR TOWN!

'Tis an excellent principle to preach, and we do our humble best to live up to it.

DO YOU?

Do you realise that there are many ways of boosting? The favourite method, because it is easy and cheap, is by words, words and more words. But talk is cheap, and you will find that many so-called enthusiastic boosters utterly fail to carry their preaching into practical effect, and they deal many a hidden stab at the prosperity of the town by patronising Timothy Eaton or David Spencer for the bulk of their requirements.

No town can be prosperous that is subjected to a constant drain of ready money for things that, in many cases, can be bought, when freight or express charges are taken into account, as reasonably at home. Some years ago, a man at Penticton was foolish enough to send to Timothy Eaton for a case of kerosene by express, and the sum of $8.00, which he had to pay to the Dominion Express Co. and incidentally send out of town in addition to what he remitted to Timothy, probably taught him a much-needed lesson in what constitutes cheapness.

Dear Friends, this little sermon is a reminder to you to investigate qualities and prices at home before you send away, and especially in the line of PRINTING. Don't suppose your job is too big or too difficult for the "Courier" to do. We have plenty of equipment, and we can perforate, punch, number, wire stitch, round corner and bind all sorts of blank receipt, order and cheque books to suit your requirements as well as a Coast shop and at no higher prices. Those who have entrusted us with work of this nature, whether single, duplicate or triplicate, are well satisfied. We print the monthly accounts which you have the pleasure of paying to the City for water and light, and we number the large land companies and the principal stores in town amongst our customers, to whom we would be glad to add you, if you have not yet patronised us.

BOARD OF TRADE

Mr. Hesperon said that immediate action should be taken so that some work could be done this fall, when the creek is low.

"You don't get anything unless you ask for it," remarked Mr. Hesperon. It is evident that the Board will make a strenuous effort to get the appropriation.

Mr. Curtis asked the Board to consider the advisability of suggesting that more space be devoted to agricultural matters in the local press.

Mr. Bellart supported the idea and the motion was carried.

A long discussion then occurred on the local telephone system, especially on the incomplete night service and also the morning service from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. Various members gave instances of poor service, and a committee composed of Messrs F. S. Coates, D. Leckie and J. W. Jones was appointed to interview the officials of the Okanagan Telephone Co.

Mr. L. E. Taylor wished to know if any fresh news had arrived regarding the proposed experimental farm in the district, and was informed that nothing definite was known.

In reply to a question by Mr. R. B. Kerr, the President stated that at the next meeting he hoped to be able to make an announcement on the tourist hotel proposition, and that before long he believed the City would possess such an hotel.

Mr. L. E. Taylor drew attention to the advertisement of Fraser Valley Fruit Lands, appearing in certain publications, and containing photographs of Kelowna orchards, copy righted by Mr. G. H. E. Hudson, but supposed to represent scenes on the property advertised.

A motion was passed to notify the New Westminster Board of Trade, The Vancouver Progress Club and the real estate company in question, drawing their attention to the matter.

The President added that the advertising being carried in German papers by a combination of local companies and the Board of Trade, would from now on be controlled entirely by the Board.

A visit of representative German citizens was expected soon and every effort must be made to give them a good reception.

A motion was passed to leave the details in the hands of the executive committee.

The following new members were added to the list, on motion of Mr. F. S. Coates and Mr. Hesperon: W. Lloyd-Jones, George Hill, R. Duncan, L. Dilworth, R. C. Bennett, R. H. C. Mathie, J. H. Davies, G. A. Bowser, M. A. Algard, J. N. Thompson, P. Brooke, K. F. Oxley, W. E. Tait, H. Glenn, C. G. Minns, C. A. Washburn, F. C. Mawhinnee, A. C. Loosmore, R. A. Seely, A. J. Walters, A. R. Mulholland and J. G. McNaughton.

After passage of a most hearty vote of thanks to the retiring Secretary, Mr. G. A. Fisher, who has worked so faithfully and energetically in the interests of the Board, and the City, the meeting adjourned.

A mob of 4,000 striking street car men stoned the cars in Halifax last Friday, and many were seriously injured in the riots. Militia may yet have to be called out.

Armstrong is to have a drill hall, according to the Advertiser. The building will be of brick construction. It is the intention of the members of C Company 102nd Regiment to install a gymnasium equipment in the new hall.

A PRAIRIE VIEW

Of Fruit Growers' Re-Organization

Says the Calgary Herald:

In forming themselves into a joint stock company, working along co-operative lines, the fruit growers of the Okanagan have adopted a course that should be effecting in overcoming the difficulties which have hitherto so disastrously affected the industry.

The decision to pool their interests in a joint stock company was only reached by the growers after mature consideration of every plan that could be applied. The result is that already details of procedure have been carefully defined and the organization should have its business in shape before the fruit marketing season arrives.

Fruit men of British Columbia have held for several years that their produce was unduly discriminated against, not only by railway and express tariffs, but by jobbers and retailers. The co-operative selling plan should overcome entirely the trouble with jobbers.

The establishment of distributing centres at all important points in the prairie provinces will permit of direct dealing with retailers, or, if the producers desire, it will be possible to conduct the branches in such a way that the consumer may buy from the growers' warehouse.

The one certainty is that there is a big market for the goods. The growers can afford to give fruit to the consumer much cheaper than he has been getting it and at the same time the grower will get more for his produce than he has ever secured.

With the 20 per cent. reduction in express charges that will be in effect before the season of ripe fruit arrives, there is every reason to hope that the fruit industry will be stimulated to a marked degree this year.

CENTRAL SELLING AGENCY

Local Representatives Elected

At a meeting of the shareholders of the B. C. Fruit Exchange Co., in Raymer's Hall last Saturday afternoon, the following representatives were elected to act on the Board of the Central Selling Organization at Vernon, and to choose two directors to work on the Directorate of the organization: Messrs J. E. Leathley, A. W. Bowser, J. W. Westney, C. G. Buck, W. Gay and N. D. McTavish.

About 70 members were present at the meeting, and the business was carried on with enthusiasm and dispatch. It is evident that local fruit growers are entering into the "co-operative" idea with a good will and will spare no efforts to make the organization of the scheme a success in every way.

Still Unsettled

A story which was doubtless invented to illustrate the thoroughness of Prussian rule wherever the Prussian black and white has established itself is reported in E. A. Brayley Hodgetts' book, "The House of Hohenzollern."

The strict devotion to duty of the Prussian disciplinarian has not always contributed to his popularity. The estimation in which he has generally been held by conquered neighbors is illustrated in the famous joke about the Hanoverian farmer's wife after the annexation—and the inquisitorial Prussian gendarme.

"Well," the gendarme is made to say in truly terrible admonitory accents, "are you all good Prussians here. No Hanoverian nonsense, eh?" "Oh," the trembling old woman replies, "we are all good Prussians now—all except the hens."

"The hens? What do you mean?" roars the gendarme, sniffing hidden insubordination.

"Ah," says the old country wife, "they will persist in laying Hanoverian eggs, always white and yellow. I cannot get them to lay black and white Prussian eggs."

Truth and a Penalty.

"Be truthful," said the teacher. "Always?" asked the boy. "Always?" answered the teacher. "Never tell a lie?" "Never." "Not even a white lie?" "Not even a white lie." "Huh!" ejaculated the lad scornfully. "It's a good thing for you you ain't a boy with my dad for a father." "Why?" asked the teacher. "Because," replied the boy, "if you was my dad's little boy, an' you heard what he said about Aunt Eliza comin' to visit us with her children, an' Aunt Eliza had asked you if you weren't all glad to see her, an' you told the truth, like I did, you'd think there was a place where your trousers were mighty thin after dad had finished with you."

He went back to his desk, and as he sat down with great care there was an expression on his face that showed the great lesson of truth had been, at least in a measure, lost on him.—Tit-Bits.

The Hand He Held.

Fragments of conversation drifted in from the billiard room, where the husband and his friends were enjoying their cigars. "I called," said the husband happily, "and when it came to a showdown as to who was the winner, why, the other fellow simply didn't have a chance! And so I stretched out my hands and gathered in that which really gave me my start. I think that I did better that night than any man in our crowd has ever done. Ah, what a hand I held! I always recall that night with thrills of pleasure."

The young wife slipped away, her face dyed with a deep pink. "The old dear is telling Mr. Blinker how he cut out Freddy Banker and made me say 'Yes,'" she whispered to herself. "Isn't he just perfect!"

Half-Acre Lots $600.00—ONLY $600.00

MORNING SUN ANNEX

This is the name given my sub-division just prepared, containing half-acre lots. The property is well-known, being 20 acres of the Guisachan Estate (formerly owned by Lord Aberdeen), joining Kelowna on the side of The Morning Sun, 20 acres of the choicest and most fertile soil, carrying one of the earliest and best irrigation water records.

Just 20 acres---just 40 lots---with fine healthy apple trees loaded with blossoms this season. I intend that every half-acre is sold this month, and am letting them go at $600.00 each.

Think of it---land you can produce the cost price the second season. Property the size of three ordinary lots at the price of one. Where there are no building restrictions (you may build a beautiful castle on your roomy property, or content yourself with a moderate home for a moderate people.

This is no "hot air chat" (the time for that has elapsed), but plain bread and butter talk, with no 20% commission added to price for selling. If you want an early choice, call on me at room 2, our block, and I will show you the stuff. Not necessary for you to buy. The terms are on your side too; one hundred dollars down will do me, balance easy.

BASEBALL

Kelowna Wins From Revelstoke

By the score of 3 to 2, the local ball players last Thursday won from the speedy C. P. R. nine who claim Revelstoke as their home town. It was about the finest exhibition of the American national game ever witnessed in Kelowna. From the third inning to the finish not a single run came over the plate, and the entire game was run through in just one hour and 20 minutes.

Eskridge and Webb were in the box for Revelstoke, and Henning pitched the entire game for the locals. Eskridge, better known as "Slim," unfortunately threw his arm out in the first inning and Webb worked the remaining eight. The latter had good control, but was hit pretty freely, the local club-swingers getting a total of fourteen hits, while Henning allowed three hits. At that Henning played a whole of a game, registering numerous strikeouts, and also fielded his position in tip-top shape. The big fellow had speed to burn, and walked but one man in the ninth. Pulley and Bruce took turns behind the bat for the "bunkies" and Syers held down the position for Kelowna, and grabbed most of them.

Webb, Fisher and "Shorty" Derr, three of the snappiest ball tossers in the valley league last year, are on the Revelstoke lineup and the rest of the bunch are all good individual players. The four errors they made throughout the game were costly ones, as they let in two runs for Kelowna. In fact each team earned but one run, but considering the ground the muffs were very few. The visitors' outfield, as well as the home boys showed very good judgment and pop flies were all stowed away safely.

Among the plays bordering on the sensational was an unassisted double play by F. Henning at shortstop, which ended the game, and a lovely catch of a high one by Kincaid on third. "Cassy" had to go straight up in a nor'easterly direction to reach it, but he never stopped until he got it. Henning had to stop a sizzler that was travelling pretty close to third, and about a foot off the ground. Fred was making ten second time when he intercepted it and just picked it off his shoes string, all-same Hans Wagner. Sprinting to third, he forced out the base runner who had started for the plate, completing a nice little double.

Fuller held down first, with the exception of one error, in good shape. Treadgold was the same old reliable, but got in bad with the base umpire on one occasion for an alleged interference. His ump's did not take kindly to the accident and "Tahmy" was called out.

The game throughout was of the kind to keep the crowd up on their toes all the time, so even was the play, and the crowd was there with the support, even staid Old Countrymen getting a trifle delicious on occasions. The visitors got their share of the bouquets and when their centre fielder made a great running catch of a fly behind second base, he was given a good hand. The work of Henning in the box was what tickled the fans the most, and as the blond hurler mowed down man after man of the heavy hitters, the rooting was something strenuous. We are unable to give a box score of the game, but the lineup and score by innings was as follows:

Kelowna	Revelstoke
Henning	pitcher
Syers	Eskridge & Webb
Fuller	catcher
Treadgold	1st base
Kincaid	2nd base
F. Henning	3rd base
Hunt	shortstop
Tait	right field
	Wilson

Score by innings:
Kelowna 2 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—3.

The visitors left on Friday for their home town, with a promise to come back strong in their home game with the locals, which is scheduled for June 12. They have a fine ball ground in Revelstoke and a great exhibition should result. The team here will be pleased to meet them again for they are a fine bunch of boys who play the game for the game's sake, and lose like sportsmen.

On Victoria Day Kelowna plays Kamloops and after their victory over the C. P. R. team, the boys will go into the game with plenty of confidence. Kamloops comes here with a good reputation, and the game should be a crackerjack, with a good fighting chance for the locals to win out. The fielding is improving all the time and the pitcher will get good support if he needs it when in the box. Lots of batting practice is the stuff they want just now and they can't get too much of it.

So gather round on Saturday when the "umps" holler "play ball," get up on your feet and root for the home team. Never mind if the bronchial tubes become a trifle distended; just keep things moving

Sporting Items

If you can't box, don't knock.

No, thank you, Cassy does not require a lid of increased circumference.

"Wagner" to "Tahmy" to "Giddy," the original double play artists.

Resolved: That Billy Wilson is a very satisfactory umpire. No trace of myopic astigmatism.

Notice Wagner's taste in hosiery? No, he doesn't do it to fool the pitcher.

Frank Gatch is expected to engage in a bunny hug with Zybesko (nice name) on the glorious Fourth of July. "Biscuits" has insured both feet and will be given 17 yards handicap. Toe held not barred.

Luther McCarty will box Art Polky, the latest "white hope," at Calgary on Saturday. Polky will be handled by Tommy Burns, the Canuck ex-world's champion.

Watch local sprinting records go to the wall on Victoria Day. The boys with the spiked shoes are going to have Mercury lashed to the mast. On your mark, get set, go!

Lynn Watt is coaching along a nice little lacrosse team. They will be right there when the whistle blows, with the speed and stick-work. Frank Carlisle will captain the bunch. Watch them.

The situation raised in California by the anti-Japanese land bill, which has received the signature of Gov. Johnson, has now reached a critical stage. It is expected that the Japanese government will enter an official protest in a few days.

A Mexican delegation is now in Spain to petition Gen. Porfirio Diaz to return to his native land and again undertake the government of his country.

Olive Oil

One of the notable tendencies today is the increased use of OLIVE OIL. This, one of the oldest of the world's foods, has until recently been used but little in Canada. We are just learning how valuable it is, for pure Olive Oil is all nourishment and just the kind needed to build up tissue and to increase the powers of resistance against disease.

It is made from Selected Olives and has the true distinctive flavour that Olive Oil should have.

COPPERPLATE ENGRAVING.

The Art Was Discovered Through the Merest Accident.

Every one has noticed on his visiting card the extremely delicate lines of his name, and almost every one knows that they are produced by printing from an engraved copperplate. Like many other things of use and beauty, this art of copperplate engraving was discovered through the merest accident by the goldsmiths of Florence in the fifteenth century.

It is a historical fact, however, that one day an engraver on gold, wishing to take a proof of his work, made the usual sulphur cast and then filled up the lines with lampblack, thus enabling him to see exactly how his work looked. While occupied in doing this it occurred to him that possibly the same results could be obtained by filling up the original engraving with lampblack instead of making an impression of it and filling up that. Struck with the idea, he put it into practical use and, with a little damp paper, succeeded in getting a fair impression from the engraving.

The discovery was communicated to other workers in the art, and they hailed it with joy, as it saved all the arduous trouble of making sulphur casts, but they never saw the full value of the discovery, and consequently the art of plate engraving lay for almost a century before its true import was discovered and brought out in all its great and beautiful results.

Today collectors of plate engravings rave over the crude results of earlier times and search the world for examples of these early masters to add to their collections. Many of these collections have been presented to museums, where they may be seen and appreciated by the people.

AIDED THE AERONAUT.

Washington Was the Godfather of Aviation in America.

Apparently George Washington was not only the Father of His Country, but also something like the godfather of aviation in America. At any rate, he wrote a letter for one M. Blanchard, who made the first balloon ascension in this country at Philadelphia in 1793. The letter reprinted in St. Nicholas reads:

"George Washington, president of the United States of America. To all whom these presents shall come.

"The bearer hereof, Mr. Blanchard, a citizen of France, proposing to ascend in a balloon from the city of Philadelphia, at 10 o'clock a. m., this day, to pass in such direction and to descend in such place as circumstances may render most convenient—

"These are, therefore, to recommend to all citizens of the United States, and others, that in his passage, descent, return or journeying elsewhere they oppose no hindrance or molestation to the said Mr. Blanchard, and that, on the contrary, they receive and aid him with that humanity and good will which may render honor to their country and justice to an individual so distinguished by his efforts to establish and advance an art, in order to make it useful to mankind in general.

"Given under my hand and seal, at the city of Philadelphia, this ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety three, and of the independence of America the seventeenth.

"GEORGE WASHINGTON."

A Japanese Idea.

The late Mutsuhito, emperor of Japan, on an occasion shortly before his death took a railway journey in the northern part of Japan and arrived at his destination half an hour late on account of a slight accident on the road. Next day the manager of the road committed suicide, giving as the reason for his act the fact that his bad management had inconvenienced the emperor. The case attracted a great deal of attention, and some of the leading men of Japan, commenting on the dead man's act, criticised his point of view.

In the eyes of his fellow townsmen, however, his deed was commendable, for they erected a statue in his honor as an ideal exponent of the Japanese conception of loyalty.

A Funny Siamese Custom.

They have a very funny fashion in Siam. When an inferior comes into the presence of a superior he throws himself upon the ground. Then the superior sends one of his attendants forward to see whether the prostrate man has been eating anything or has any offensive odor about him. If he is blameless in this respect the attendant raises him from the ground, but if he is guilty the attendant straightway kicks him out.

A Useful Paragraph.

Singleton (reading)—It is said that the last word in an argument is often the most dangerous.

Wedderly—Would you mind letting me have that paper?
Singleton—What do you want it for?
Wedderly—I want to show that paragraph to my wife.

Pretty Long at Times.

"I believe honesty pays in the long run."
"So do I. But I often wish it were not such a mighty long run."—Chicago Record-Herald.

He Didn't Count.

Mr. Timid (hearing a voice at 2 a. m.)—I think, dear, that there is a man in the house. Wife (scornfully)—Not in this room.—London Sketch.

INDIA'S SACRED MONKEYS.

An Intruder Into Their Jungle Retreat Got a Good Scare.

In various parts of India monkeys are regarded as objects of worship. One of the principal monkey temples is at Nudda. Such veneration is shown there to Himmann, the monkey god, that visitors may not enter the court of the temple without removing their shoes.

On one occasion an English officer, in passing up the country near Nudda, chanced to stroll into a bamboo jungle when his boat had "put to" for the night. He had not advanced far before he heard a terrific uproar all about him, and he was not a little alarmed to behold a whole army of the largest monkeys he had ever seen making toward him from all quarters.

Some jumped on the ground before him, others swung by the bamboos over his head, and many closed up the path in his rear. Several females had young ones clinging to them, but this fact did not seem to render them less agile than the others.

The Englishman knew not what to do. He yelled at the top of his voice for assistance. To his intense relief, each time that he yelled the monkeys retreated a bit. This encouraged him to persevere in his shouting, but he observed that when he himself began to retreat the monkeys would again begin to close in upon him.

Then he stood still and gave one tremendous shout, whereat the monkeys went back again. This time the man had gained fully twenty yards and was about to repeat the call when there appeared a new figure upon the scene in the person of an aged, decrepit woman hobbling through the midst of the animals.

This aged person shook two or three of the monkeys by the paws as she passed. No sooner had she come within hearing of the Britisher than she opened upon him the wails of her wrath for disturbing the sacred animals in their retirement. She bade the intruder depart, and that quickly, an order which he lost no time in executing. The monkeys all seemed implicitly to obey the old woman's bidding, making way for the man's retreat.

The old woman, it appeared, was employed by the Brahmans to supply the monkeys with their food each day. They were worshipped by all the people in the country round, who brought offerings of rice and sweetmeats to them continually.—Harper's Weekly.

Dancing Stars.

The spectroscope makes the starry heavens to the astronomer's eye appear almost as full of crazy notions as is a cloud of goats dancing in the sunshine. Every increase in the power of the observing apparatus brings to notice new spectroscopic binaries, which are simply double stars that cannot be seen separately either because of their extreme closeness or because only one of them is a shining body. It is the erratic motions of these stars that reveal their true character. One of them discovered within recent years is Eta Orionis, which hangs just below the belt of Orion. Sometimes this star is speeding toward the earth more than forty miles a second and a few nights later is hurrying away with a similar velocity.—New York Sun.

A Paradox.

A maiden well advanced in years used to wait every morning for the postman, a bachelor of about her age, and ask him if there was not a letter for her. Several weeks passed thus, but the anxiously expected letter did not arrive. Finally one morning the postman said to her, "Well, tomorrow you shall get your letter, if I have to write it myself."

"That's right; do it," replied the old maid. "I shall be delighted to accept it."

"Well," said the postman, smiling, "what do you want me to write—a business letter or a love letter?"

"If you mean business please write a love letter," was her blushing reply.—London Answers.

Catching Redhot Rivets.

This would not seem to be a pleasing occupation even if the rivet is caught in an old mail bag, yet the feat is constantly performed by workmen. Ordinarily they catch rivets in a river keg or something of that sort, but there are men who catch rivets with a pair of tongs—just reach out for them and nip a redhot rivet out of the air with the upper part of the tongs in much the same way that a bird nips a flying feather out of the air with its beak. The feat is commonly seen by persons who watch workmen on high buildings.—Harper's Weekly.

Bending Wood.

Wood may be made soft and flexible by steeping it in a concentrated solution of common table salt to which some acetate of iron has been added. A better method is to immerse the wood in a bath made by dissolving twenty-five parts of calcium chloride in a hundred parts of water. It should be left there for some time and after bending thrown in cold water to harden.

He Would Divide.

"Yes," said the eminent specialist to the tramp who had called upon him. "I will examine you carefully for ten dollars."

"All right, doc," said the tramp resignedly, "do dat, an' if you find it I'll give you half."

Babies In Lapland.

Little Laplanders spend the first few months of their existence in baskets of wickerwork provided at the top with a conical framework too close for the baby to fall through and yet giving the infant plenty of light and air.

Before commencing her work for the day the Lapp mother places her child in the basket and hangs it on the limb of some nearby tree, occupation being found for the little one by stringing tops under a cord passed across the top of the basket.

Thus provided the child spends the entire day in the open and yet at the same time is guarded from the troubles and dangers of outdoor child life in other countries.

The basket idea curiously parallels the Indian idea of strapping the papoose into a carrying case, but the Lapp baby has the advantage over its Indian fellow in that its limbs are unconfined and a certain amount of liberty of movement is afforded.

The child is carried from place to place in the same basket, the cord by which it is attached to a tree being slung over the shoulder.

Our Bodies Are Machines.

It seems that the body will ordinarily give out per day no more external work than about one-fifth of the energy consumed in the shape of food. The adult human mechanism, while more efficient than a large steam plant, is less efficient than a small producer-gas plant, assuming all plants of the same capacity. This does not mean, however, that the body is capable of performing an amount of work far in excess of the amount theoretically latent in the food consumed, as witness some of the remarkable results among our athletic records.

It is even possible for the human mechanism to perform external work without taking food at all, the work being done at the expense of the bodily tissue. This is the case especially in tests of endurance where the extra energy is drawn from the animal cells.

Mozart's Work.

Mozart lived thirty-seven years. His first mass was composed when he was less than ten years of age, and the enormous quantity of his compositions was the work of the succeeding twenty-seven years. Mozart wrote forty-one symphonies, fifteen masses, over thirty operas and dramatic compositions, forty-one sonatas, together with an immense number of vocal and concerted pieces in almost every line of art.

The Missing Word.

A prospective woman tenant through the typewriter's omission of one all important little word of two letters received the following startling statement: "Dear Madam—You can have the flat provided you repaint and re-decorate yourself!"

A TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE.

It Is a Very Impressive and Most Wonderful Spectacle.

One of the most beautiful and interesting sights to be seen is an eclipse of the sun. It is quite a remarkable fact that the sun is 400 times as broad as the moon and at the same time is about 400 times as far away. So to us they appear to be the same size.

A total eclipse of the sun is a very impressive and wonderful sight, says Harold W. Clark in Farm and Home.

As the time of the total eclipse draws near the darkness increases. About ten minutes before totality the darkness can almost be felt. Men's faces show a copper color, which makes them look ghastly. Birds cease their songs and go to roost. Flowers close, and an awful stillness rests upon all the face of Nature. The temperature falls and dew appears. Then away to the west we see the shadow of the moon coming with almost terrifying swiftness. It comes at the rate of 1,000 miles an hour and pounces upon us so suddenly that we are startled.

Looking at the sun, we see it wholly covered by the moon, but surrounded by a brilliant light that flashes out all around it. This is the corona and is seen only during total eclipses. The eclipse lasts only for four or five minutes, and then the shadow of the moon passes us, and we can see the sun again.

If we should ever be so fortunate as to get a chance to see a total solar eclipse we should count ourselves lucky indeed. It would be worth going many miles to see.

Venus and Jupiter.

The "earth's twin sister," Venus, is 67,000,000 miles from the sun. It receives more heat than we do. Very little is known of Venus, and so few markings are seen that it is not known whether Venus rotates on its axis once in twenty-four hours or once in 225 days. Jupiter, the giant of the sun's family, is covered with a shell of clouds which change so rapidly that conditions there can be interpreted only in one way—that Jupiter is so large and it has cooled so slowly that it is still far too hot to support life.

Redmond a Stayer.

Mr. John Redmond makes a practice of being within the precincts of the House of Commons from the moment that the Speaker takes the chair until the proceedings terminate at night. He and Mr. Keir Hardie probably spend more time at St. Stephen's than any other pair of legislators.

Gilding the Pill.

Diner—I suppose you are accustomed to getting very large tips. Waiter—Yes; the patrons here are very generous. Diner—Then you can easily overlook the trifling one I am compelled to give you.

OLD ROMAN BATHS.

They Held Theaters, Temples, Feasting Halls and Libraries.

The ancient Romans were extravagantly fond of bathing. They got their notions about the bath as a luxury from the Greeks, and at one time there were nearly 900 public bathing establishments in Rome, some of which were the most beautiful and elaborate structures in the world.

The baths of the Emperor Diocletian covered more than half a square mile and contained, besides immense basins and thousands of marble recesses, theaters, temples, halls for feasting, promenades planted with trees, libraries, schools for youth and academies for the discussions of the learned. The bathers sat on marble benches below the surface of the water, around the edge of the basins, scraping themselves with the dull knives of metal and ivory and taking occasional plunges into the water.

Dissipated Romans would spend whole days in the bath, seeking relief from overindulgence in eating and drinking the night before. Everybody, even the emperor, used these baths, which were open to every one who chose to pay the price of admission.

It was not usual for the old Romans to have baths in their houses, though at a date 1,500 years before that, or 3,500 years ago, the noblemen of ancient Greece had their dwellings supplied with baths of terra cotta.

He Hadn't Heard of Socrates.

A big policeman who walks a beat near the Greek settlement in the north side always gets angry when he hears this told at his expense, but there are those who will vouch for its truth:

About a month ago a young man, very much excited, rushed up to this policeman and exclaimed: "Say, Jim, did you hear about a Greek by the name of Socrates taking poison?"

"I did not," Jim replied innocently. Then he added, thoughtfully stroking his chin: "Sure, that's the first time I ever heard of a Greek going up against anything stronger than what he sells in his own coffee houses. I guess I'd better look this up and bulletin all the details to the department. It's an unusual case." Kansas City Journal.

Paul Jones' Promise.

After the great fight in which John Paul Jones in the Bonhomme Richard made splinters and shreds of the British vessel Serapis the English government generously decided that, though vanquished beyond a question, the captain of the lost vessel had behaved with becoming bravery and deserved promotion to the rank of commodore. When Paul Jones heard of this promotion and its cause and said, "Well, by George! If I ever meet that chap again I'll make him an admiral."

UNHAPPY WIVES AND OLD MAIDS

Are Not the Only Women Who Believe In Equality of Rights.

It was a man who, anxious for his sex no doubt and fearful of the growing feminine movement, in a recent newspaper article divided the suffragists into just four classes, as follows:—Women who cannot live peacefully with their husbands.

Livorced women. Disappointed old maids.

Women with sissy husbands. The writer, undoubtedly, has but a meager acquaintance and a limited outlook upon life or he would never have attempted to classify the participants in a movement far too large and too diversified for him even to comprehend, according to his own confession, comments a woman champion of "the cause." It is more than he deserves to notice his effusion, for it can only be regarded as one regards the follies of an immature mind.

As a matter of fact, the movement for liberty is made up of happy wives and mothers, of young girls, though not so many of these as one would wish. It is made up of old maids, if you will call them so, both those who are contented with their lot of single blessedness and those who are not, but who are both alike weary of things as they are and who burn to have things changed. It is made up of divorced women in various stages of happiness, of unhappy wives and mothers, and there are many such. It is made up of childless women, of grandmothers, happy and otherwise; is made up of ardent boys, of young men married and single, some happy and some unhappy, of middle-aged men who have thought seriously or otherwise upon the problems of life, and of old men who have outgrown or overthrown the prejudices of their early youth and training.

If a roll call were taken it would be seen to be a growing army of people of all ages and all classes and all conditions. Like all armies it would be seen to have wise people and foolish ones; people ignorant and those who are learned, with the rank and file just mediocre, though all would be agreed in this, that equality of rights was the only righteous basis of civilized life.

Cures.

One year of married life.

One squalling child.

Three hours' record on talking machine of what her friends say about her.

To be taken daily before meals. For a young man who, though wholly untrained, thinks he can sing when he really cannot: One-hour lesson with critical vocal teacher.

RARE BLINDNESS.

"Were you ever blind for an entire evening of your life—blind in the midst of a jolly company who were sewing and chatting, and didn't in the least realize your plight?" asked a social worker recently. "That was what happened to me not long ago, and I must say it was a most uncomfortable experience. I sympathize with persons who have lost their sight now as I never did before."

"You see, I went to call upon a young girl from my home town who is being educated in a private institution for the blind near here. I had been to see her before, and so I was prepared for the way her companions crowded about me, felt my clothes, my hands and my face and remarked everything I had on, saying, 'How becoming her hat is! How pretty she looks!' and so on. Nor was I surprised when my friend conducted me through the class rooms pointing out the new work and displaying some fine lace work she had started that morning, quite as though she could see it all."

"But on this visit, for the first time, I was invited to stay for supper and spend the evening with the girls. I was delighted to accept the invitation and enjoyed the meal, which was served by sighted waitresses in a well-lighted dining room. But after that my experience came. We walked from the dining room into dim halls, and as we mounted the stairs to the sitting room we walked into utter darkness. I began to envy my friend, who tripped lightly by my side, while I could only grope my way awkwardly. Once in the sitting room I felt for a chair and dropped into it, waiting for the lights to be turned on. But the laughter and the chatter went on unconcerned about me, and after a few minutes it dawned upon me that lights were not necessary in an institution for the blind at night—that the sitting room was no darker for those girls than it had been all through the beautiful, sunny day I had enjoyed so much. As my eyes grew a bit accustomed to the darkness I could perceive that the girls had drawn their chairs up around mine and were busy with embroidery and lace making as they talked."

"And for the rest of the evening I sat there trying not to let my blindness fret me; not to appear stupid when the girls, forgetful of my affliction, held up their work for my inspection. That was the time I realized what it really is to be blind."

The Retort Courteous.

Miss Oldwin—I've refused many, many offers of marriage. Gayboy (absentmindedly)—Very thoughtful and considerate of you, I'm sure.—Meggendorfer Blatter.

That character is power is true to a much higher sense than that knowledge is power. Smithe.

WORLD DUST.

Dominated by the tiny speck of matter known as the sun—tiny in comparison with the unfilled abysses of infinite space—the earth has been a huge vassal for ages beyond the power of human understanding. Silently, swiftly, almost eternally, it has swept onward, moving in an orbit determined by the fundamental laws that govern the universe. Ever falling, never reaching the great centre of our solar system, the earth has been naught else than a mighty pendulum ticking off the seconds of eternity. Like all clocks, it will some day run down forever. Nothing in the material universe, is permanent save the law of change, decay and regeneration.

Our earth is only an episode, an incident by the way, in the history of the matter that composes it. The tiny bits of carbon, of which we are so inordinately proud (diamonds) and which we wear in rings upon our fingers, are fragments of world dust. The wave-worn sand upon the seashore has been in existence through all time. The iron that gives color to the flush on the cheek of a maid is as old as the universe itself. The oxygen we rely upon to sustain life has ever been and ever shall be.

How wonderful would be the autobiography of a bit of world dust! Of what other worlds has it formed a part? What other suns, now splintered into cosmic fragments, once controlled its very motion? To what other galaxies of stars, lost in the remote, pathless labyrinth of space, and broken into tiny meteorites or nebulous clouds, did it once belong?

The most stupendous monuments and memorials of man, whether they be on printed page, on sculptured marble, or hewn in living rock, are but temporary, and "await alike the inevitable hour" of complete annihilation. Where are the boasted wonders of the world? Only the time-worn, sand-hidden, blue-eyed, Sphinx and the dilapidated Pyramid of Cheops remain. Everything that man has wrought is destined to decay and destruction. The graceful dome of St. Peter's, the storied fanes of Westminster Abbey, the exquisite loveliness of the Congressional Library, the mighty business palaces of populous cities, will return to their elemental dust, lost in the nebulous maze of infinite space. All of man's masterpieces, all of the products of his genius, will be as though they had never been at all. The divine skill of Michael Angelo, the wondrous art of Raphael, the perfect harmonies of Handel and Beethoven, the verse of Homer, the genius of Shakespeare, will vanish with the rest, for history repeats throughout the ages; dust return to dust.

"And how are these eggs?" asked Mrs. De Jay, gazing at the contents of the crate through her lorgnette. "You can't beat 'em," said the grocer.

"Mercy!" cried Mrs. De Jay. "They will never do for me. I want eggs that you can beat for omelets."

Local and Personal News

BORN.—To the wife of Mr. Wm. Ludlow, on May 20, a daughter.

Mr. Hugh Copeland returned to Vancouver on Monday, after a visit to his parents here.

The Kelowna Band will give a concert in the City Park, on the evening of Victoria Day, commencing at 7:30. During the afternoon the band will discourse music at the Fair Grounds.

Frank Moffet has lost no time in getting down to business since coming back from the East. This week he landed the contract for the electrical work in the new Glena Implement building, at Kelowna. —Enderby Press.

The McKenzie Co. Greases, have put on the delivery end of their fast growing business a large auto-delivery wagon, bought from the Kelowna Garage & Machine Works Co., Ltd. This same firm also imported two other delivery wagons, which will no doubt be seen shortly on the streets bearing the name of two other business firms.

The death occurred on Saturday last at Seymour Arm, Shuswap Lake, of Mrs. A. Hooper, for several years a resident with her family in Armstrong. Mr. and Mrs. Hooper and family left Armstrong last year to take up residence on their farm at Seymour Arm. She leaves to mourn, besides a husband, two daughters residing in Kelowna, one a teacher at the Coast and one at home, who have the sympathy of many friends in Armstrong in their bereavement. —Advertiser.

The Kelowna Musical and Dramatic Society are working hard to get "San Toy" ready for June 19th. We had the privilege of being present at the last rehearsal and the members are certainly sparing no pains to make this the finest production in the history of the Society, and their efforts deserve the heartiest support of the theatre-going public, who cannot fail to appreciate the high ambition responsible for such a gorgeous production—one that taxes the talent of amateurs to the limit.

"Charlie's Aunt" will be played by Musical and Dramatic Society on Saturday evening, May 24th—Victoria Day—at 8:30. This farce was recently put on here by the Society with great success and since then has toured the lake and valley, north and south. The same players appear as before, with the exception of Miss Hinger, whose place will be filled by Mrs. Scamers. This performance will be an appropriate conclusion to the afternoon of sport at the Fair Grounds, that will entertain holiday makers.

The following schedule, subject to alteration, has been drawn up by the Okanagan Valley Lacrosse League, which is formed by the teams of Vernon, Armstrong and Kelowna. June 3, Kelowna at Armstrong; June 10, Armstrong at Kelowna; June 17, Armstrong at Vernon; July 10, Vernon at Kelowna; July 13, Kelowna at Vernon; July 23, Vernon at Armstrong. The schedule will be amended or extended later in the season as seems necessary. Kelowna will field a strong team this year, especially the defensive end, and there is sufficient new material on the roll to ensure a speedy scoring division. Seriously speaking, the chances for winning out this year look very bright.

At the regular meeting of the Fire Brigade on Tuesday night, it was decided to reorganize the War Canoe Crew for the season of 1914, and a meeting of all the old members both of last year and previous years was called for Monday, May 26th, in the Fire Hall, at 8 p.m. The War Canoe is one of the best, if not the best sporting institution of Kelowna, so much so that pictures of the Canoe and Team racing through the water may be seen in many of the leading illustrated papers of Great Britain, advertising this fascinating water sport of the "far-famed Okanagan Valley."

We are in receipt of a communication in reference to the dismissal of the second and third engineers at the City power house, for refusal, it is alleged, on their part to scrub the floors of that institution. We do not think that any good would be accomplished, by publication of the letter, and we believe that if any injustice has been done that the City Fathers can be relied upon to rectify it.

Playing to a crowded house on Wednesday night in the Opera House, "The Prince of Tenight," best described as a "gorgeous musical fantasia," created a fine impression, due to the sterling work of Tom Arnold, as the Prince, the high average of the rest of the cast, and the splendid scenic effects created. In the charming transformation scene at the end of the first act, when the "Palm Beach at Florida" was charged to the marvellous "Delft Forest in Lunitania," the clever lighting effects were largely responsible for the beautiful scene, and the costumes were quite in keeping with the stage work. The male chorus was especially good, making a great hit in "If Eyes Are Blue For Good Old Yale," a College song with a swing to it that strikes the popular fancy. The girls in the chorus were both pretty and graceful. The most elaborate of all the musical shows presented by the house management this year, "The Prince of Tenight" excelled all in scenic beauty and feature surprises.

Mrs. G. F. B. James and youngest son returned on Monday from Montreal.

BORN.—On May 15, to the wife of Mr. John Smith, a daughter.

Mr. F. W. Fraser, manager of the Western Cannery, Ltd., left on Saturday on a business visit to the prairies.

Mr. C. A. Washburn has joined Mr. Souree in the general accounting business, succeeding Mr. Bellamy, who recently dissolved his partnership in the firm.

A meeting of the applicants for shares in the British Columbia Fruit Exchange has been called for 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 31st, in Rayner's Small Hall.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid will be held next Monday, May 26, at 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. D. W. Grayley. All members are requested to attend—Cont.

Mr. and Mrs. McGregor take this opportunity of thanking the many people who expressed their sympathy in so many acts of kindness during their daughter's illness and their bereavement.

Mr. Darryl Pryce, recently from London, England, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. Hayes, and intends to locate here as a teacher of and performer on the violin. Mr. Pryce was first violinist of the Crystal Palace Orchestra and also of the City of London Orchestra.

A special "Imp" film will be shown at Dreamland on Saturday. This picture will be a 2-reel reproduction of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," the famous imaginative sketch of a mysterious dual character by Robert Louis Stevenson, one of the masters of literature. The film will be characterized by the lavishness of detail which is such a noteworthy feature of all "Imp" films.

Mr. J. Campbell, of the Kelowna-Westbank Ferry, is busy these days breaking in a new engine recently installed in the s.s. "Arctic." The new engine is a four and eight compound, with cylinders four by six and eight by six inches, manufactured by the Davis Dry Dock Co., Kingston, Ont. It will develop about 25 h.p. at 300 r.p.m., at 150 pounds steam pressure.

Mr. G. H. E. Hudson, the well-known photographer, has ordered a moving picture camera, and will devote a good deal of his time in future to the work of securing films of local industries and scenes. His first work with the machine will be the production of a film or series of films picturing the tobacco industry in the district. The B. N. A. T. Co. wish to have the entire process, from seedling to the finished product, described on film, so as to give a true impression of the advanced stage now reached by the industry. Later, the fruit industry and others for which the Okanagan is now famous, will be thoroughly reproduced in negatives which will probably constitute the very finest kind of advertising for the whole district. The camera cannot lie and the impression created in a lecture room or theatre by the accurate illustration of local industries will be worth reams of advertising matter of the common or garden variety. Mr. Hudson's reputation as an artistic photographer, is a practical guarantee that the work will be thorough and will produce gratifying results in the near future.

ELLISON NOTES

From Our Own Correspondent

Mr. Bulman returned this week from a business trip to Vancouver.

Mr. J. Carney returned last week from Kamloops, where he had been for a few days on business.

On Saturday, May 10, our junior baseball team paid a visit to Kelowna. They played the Kelownians in the Park and beat them by the score of 7 to 6.

Mr. M. Heron, and his son, Charlie, returned last week from the Coast, where they have been spending a short holiday before the latter returned to his position in the Royal Bank.

A baseball match was played at Rutland on the 17th, when there was a very unusual occurrence, Ellison was beaten. Some think the Rutland boy in the yellow pants hypnotized them. The score was 20 to 17.

A considerable portion of the false work foundation of the Trout Creek bridge, on the K. V. R. near Summerland, was carried away during a freshet last week. The damage amounted to about $5,000 and some delay in the completion of the structure will be the result.

All these things are paying. In 1909, before we started an egg station, I used to have the greatest difficulty in getting rid of eggs, and when I did, I was selling during the spring of the year at 18c a dozen in the city. In 1907 we started the egg station, and from that day to this the lowest price I have received in the spring of the year for such eggs was 27 1/2c.

I would call your attention to the fact that a co-operative creamery can do things that an individual cannot do. A creamery can have a cold storage and take care of its own eggs. It can sell eggs in the market in September and October against what are called fresh eggs from Manitoba and other provinces, and these will sell at 35c and bring to the producer his 27 1/2c. There are many other things in which the farmer might co-operate. Our creamery is considering the installation of a fruit-packing station, and acting practically as commission agent to sell any thing—vegetables, potatoes, etc. I venture to say that there are not many here who, having had dealings with a commission house, have not felt that the commission men get more than they were entitled to get."

SPRING MEETINGS Of Farmers' Institutes

The Department of Agriculture has forwarded a copy of the itinerary which has been arranged by this Department in connection with spring meetings of the various farmers' Institutes throughout the province. A staff of lecturers has been engaged to supplement the permanent staff of the Department of Agriculture.

The meetings of interest to our readers, together with place and date, name of lecturer and subject, are as follows:

Okanagan Mission, Friday, June 6, at 2 p.m., R. C. Ashby, Animal Husbandry; H. Reid, Poultry.

Ellison—Friday, June 6, 8 p.m. — R. C. Ashby, Animal Husbandry; H. Reid, Poultry.

Westbank — Westbank School, Saturday, June 7, at 8 p.m.—R. C. Ashby, Soil Cultivation; H. Reid, Poultry.

Police Court

It cost an Austrian individual bearing the mythical name of Butkovich just $31.00 to disfigure, alter and otherwise mutilate the countenance of his bosom friend, Messrs. Bastore and Cloch, the former being the chief sufferer. Butkovich told the magistrate all about it on Tuesday morning.

It appeared that the whisky which had been surrounded by the subjects of Frances Joseph had a particularly inspiring effect on Butkovich, and after a brief argument on the nebular hypothesis he seized a bottle and tapped his friend on the nasal bone. He was busily occupied in serrating various other portions of his comrade's anatomy when Constable McKay appeared on the horizon, secured a doctor's services for the injured man and incarcerated the martial Butkovich in the lock-up. Never again for Butskyl!

THE WILY QUAKER.

The Promise of More Secured Him His Stolen Hoard.

A few years ago, when people were excited about a French invasion of our shores, a Quaker, residing at Epping, in Essex, being afraid, if such an event should take place, that he might lose his money, thought of the following stratagem to save it. He decided to hide $1,000 in Epping Forest, but for fear that he might die, or be killed by the enemy, he thought it would not be prudent to hide it without acquainting somebody. According he fixed upon his neighbor, a smith, as a proper person to be entrusted with the secret.

They set out together, and chose a spot by the side of a large oak, where a hole was soon made and the money very carefully deposited; taking great care to cover it up with such exactness that no person traveling by chance that way might have any suspicion. They returned home. The next morning early the smith went and took the money away, not thinking the Quaker would so soon suspect his integrity. The Quaker, however, paid a visit to the spot where his beloved treasure was deposited when, to his great surprise, it was gone.

Suspicion immediately fell upon the smith, but, instead of accusing him, the Quaker thought of a stratagem to get his money back. He informed the smith he wished to add another $250. This had the desired effect, for the smith immediately went and replaced the $1,000, not only to prevent his neighbor from judging him to be the thief, but to get the other $250.

Away they both went together, and, opening the hole, the Quaker, to his great joy, discovered his beloved treasure. He immediately fell into the following exclamation:

"Ah, my friend, I find these goats and comest; but for fear that these shouldst go and never return, I'll often take thee home, for I think thee art as safe in my house as in Epping Forest."

VICTORIA'S FAVORITE

MME. ALBANI SAYS QUEEN LOVED SCOTCH SONGS.

Celebrated Prima Donna Who Started Music So Young That She Never Had a Doll, Tells of Her Experiences in London—No Applause at State Concerts—Chinese Dignitary Went to Sleep.

A few years ago the editor of one of our leading magazines wrote to a famous singer and asked her to tell him about her childhood days and her dolls. The reply came back, "I never had a doll."

The singer was Mme. Albani, who tells the story as an illustration of the arduousness of her childhood days; for music claimed her from infancy, and when she was not more than five years old she was made to practice four hours a day. Her father put her through very strenuous discipline, and the habits then formed still remain with Mme. Albani, who confesses that she is a woman without recreations, and wholly and solely devoted to her art.

The result of her hard work has been that she has won the distinction of being one of the greatest women singers of the nineteenth century. She was highly esteemed by the late Queen Victoria. In fact, she was Her Majesty's favorite singer, and in her interesting reminiscences, "Forty Years of Song," Mme. Albani, writing of Queen Victoria's love of music, says that Scotch songs appealed to her very strongly. Her Majesty never grew tired of "The Bluebells of Scotland," which she called the "Highland Laddie song," and other songs of which she was very fond were "Annie Laurie" and "Within a Mile of Edinburgh Town."

Mme. Albani sang at many state concerts during Queen Victoria's reign, and confesses that the most disturbing feature of these occasions for the artist is the silence and the absence of applause. And she tells a story of how on one occasion, when she was singing at Buckingham Palace, the concert room was disturbed all at once by a very unusual and not particularly pleasant sound. Ultimately it was seen that the Chinese ambassador, perhaps not being used to European music, had fallen asleep. He had awakened suddenly, giving vent to a loud snore, half snort, half groan, greatly to the amusement of everybody.

There is a piquant story, too, concerning an incident which Mme. Patti herself related to Mme. Albani. "One morning," Mme. Patti said, "she was walking with her husband in Regent street, and as she stopped at a shop window to look at a number of photographs, a gentleman who had come up behind her (and, of course, not seeing who she was) said to his friend, 'There's a portrait of Albani.' They say she will cut Patti out. Upon which Mme. Patti turned round and exclaimed, 'Thank you, sir,' and walked away."

Talking of the extraordinary gifts which popular artists sometimes receive, Mme. Albani mentions that one day at the outset of her career a messenger came to her door and left an enormous parcel, which, on examination, proved to contain a large quantity of valuable jewelry, bracelets, brooches, rings, etc., besides shawls and some priceless lace. Inquiries revealed the fact that the donor was a gentleman who had been out of his mind, but had since recovered. The excitement, however, caused by being present at the opera had had the unfortunate effect of again upsetting his equilibrium, and he had taken all his wife's trinkets and many valuables and sent them to Mme. Albani as an expression of his admiration. Needless to say, they were returned with thanks.

On another occasion someone sent Mme. Albani an enormous circular bouquet, which, she says, must have measured quite six feet in diameter, the scent of which was so overpowering that it gave her a violent headache. When the prima donna went to the theatre and began her part, she had to leave the stage from sheer agony and be taken to her dressing room.

"Since that time," says the singer, "I have never been able to wear strong-scented flowers or to have too many at a time in my room."

There was another occasion when a gentleman, sitting in one of the front rows of the stalls at Covent Garden, threw her a bouquet and a jewel case, the latter striking the singer in the middle of the forehead with considerable violence.

"He could be seen," says Mme. Albani, "making frantic gestures of despair as, with my hands pressed to my forehead, I rushed off the stage to the dressing room. The application of a few simple remedies soon made me feel all right, and possibly my recovery may have been hastened by the fact that on opening the case I discovered it contained a beautiful diadem set with brilliants."

Appropos of the fact that Britons are often accused of being an unmusical nation, Mme. Albani says:

"It is wonderful to see how the public of the provincial towns enjoy a good concert. There is an enormous amount of money spent in England during the year on music, and this, combined with their appreciation of it, is another refutation of the notion that the English are not musical."

How She Spelled Alice.

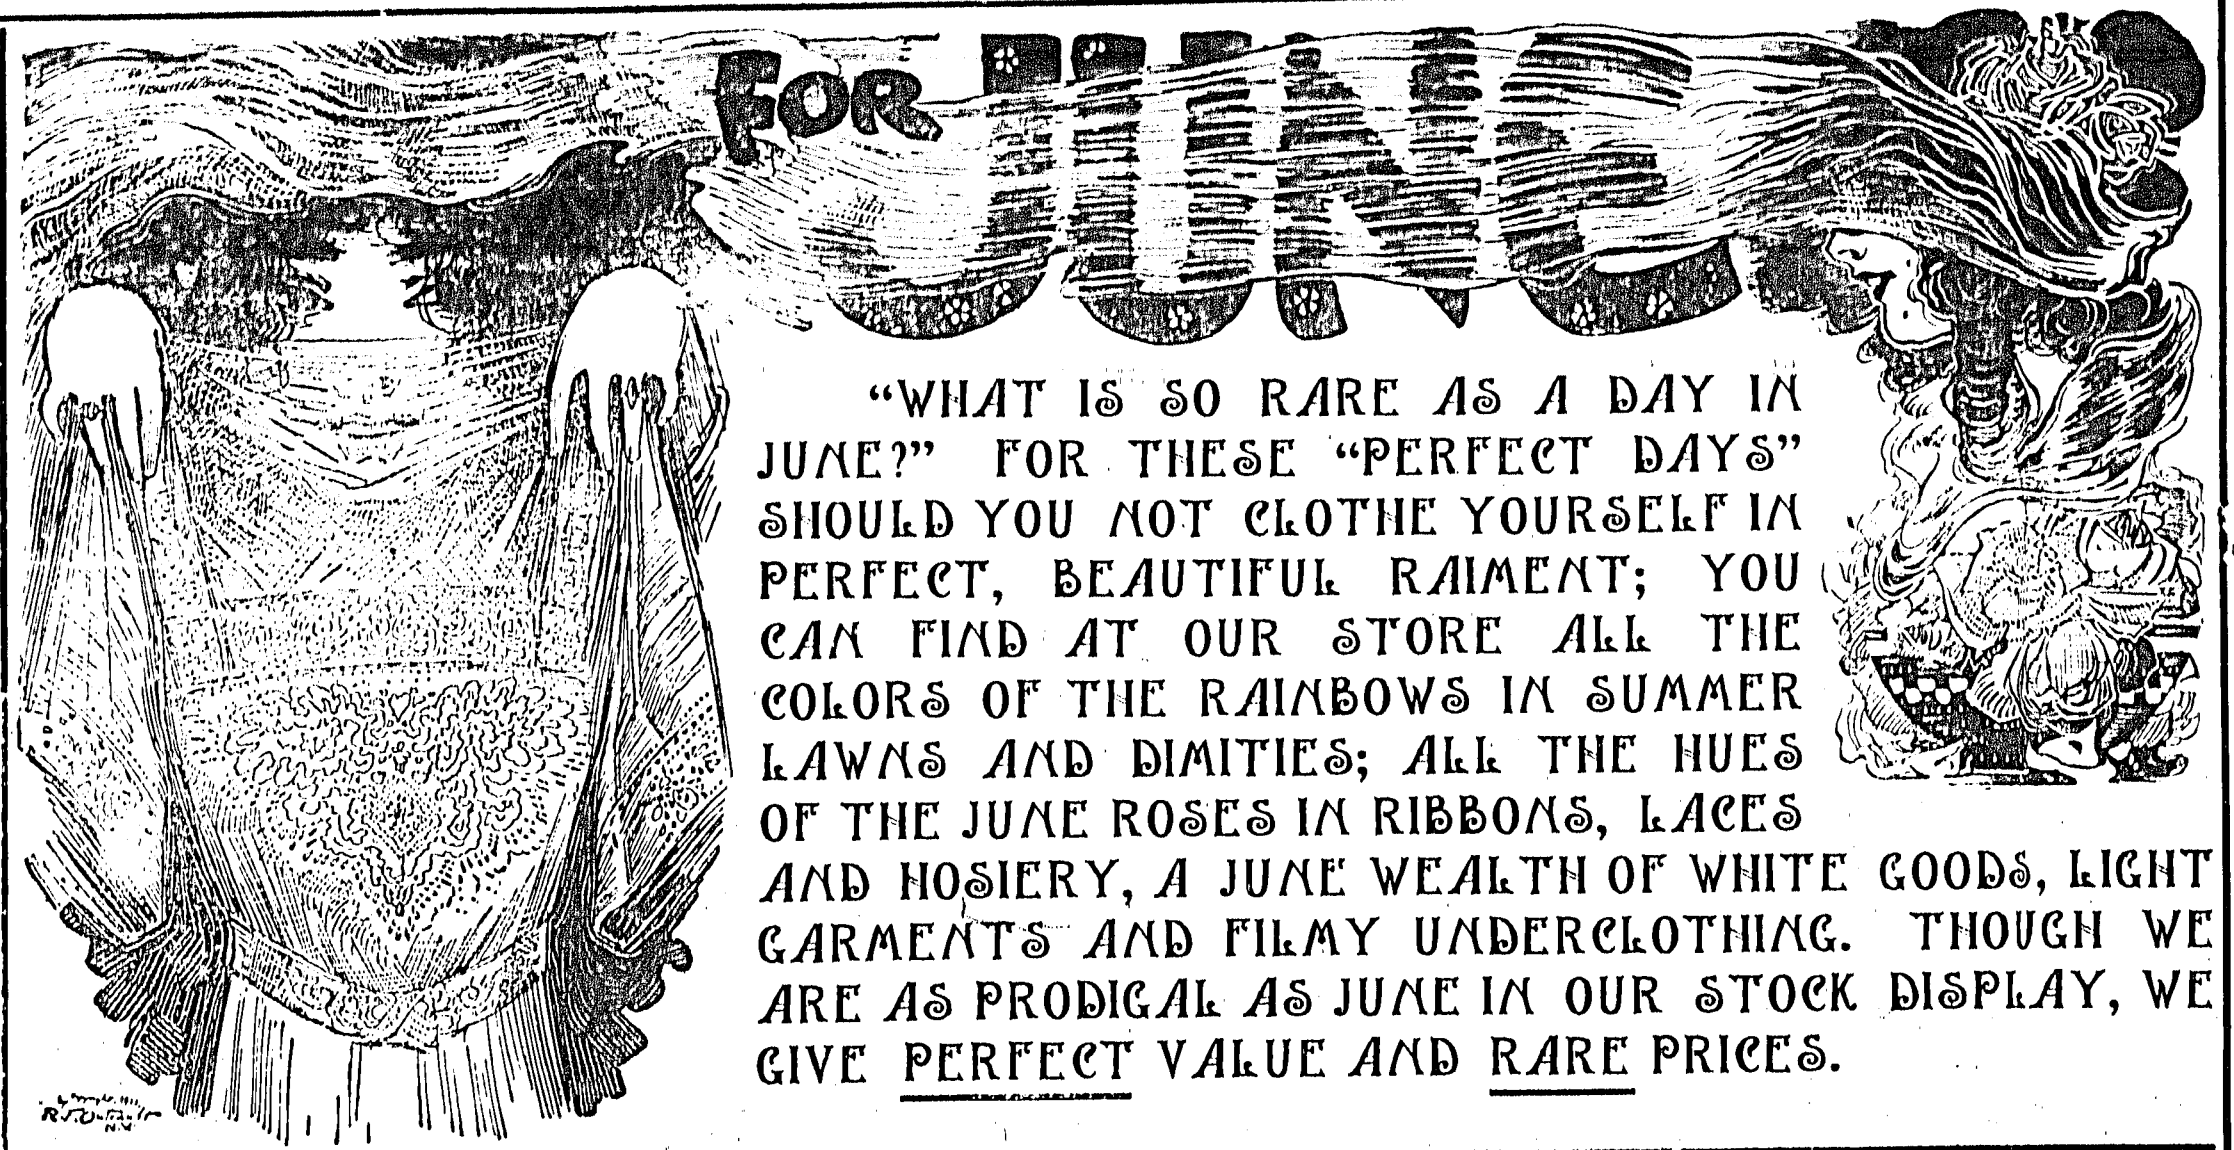

When Alice Jones was eighteen she became Miss E. Alyse Jones. When she went to enter a normal school she was asked her name by the dean.

"She replied, 'Miss E. Alyse Jones—A-l-y-s-e.'"

"Yes," said the dean. "And how are you spelling 'Jones' now?"

Pretty Fair Proof.

"Are they very much in love?" "I guess so. They send kisses to each other by telephone and stand waiting with their lips puckered, if the report is that the wire is busy."

Purity - Quality - Delicacy

For these three graces combined there is nothing to compare with

Hunt's Supreme Quality Canned Fruits

We have Lemon Cling Peaches, Bartlett Pears, Choice Apricots, Royal Anne Cherries and Sliced Pineapples. It is rich, ripe fruit; picked, peeled and packed carefully and scientifically by hand—the original flavour of the fruit being preserved.

The great difference between Hunt's Supreme Quality and other high grade fruits is that Hunt's Supreme Quality is all hand-peeled, whereas in the majority of cases the fruit is lye-peeled—that means that they go through a lye process which eats off the skin and incidentally spoils the fruit flavour.

If you ask a friend home to lunch, or have some one drop in for a meal unexpectedly, there is nothing will grace the table better than Hunt's Supreme Quality Fruit. The guest will have that happy, satisfied feeling which is so essential, and the housewife will be saved a lot of hurry and worry as well.

Always keep a few cans on your pantry shelf.
